Comments: The Freshman Monarchs took the field on Wednesday as their only double header of the week and fell 11-1 to the Harlan Cyclones in Game 1. Cody Schulte pitched 4 innings and attacked the strike zone. The Monarchs were able to make improvements at the plate with their approach forcing Harlan to throw more pitches than necessary that forced walks in return. The Monarch bats heated up as we continued to put pressure on the defense putting the ball in play throughout the game. Harlan was able to piece together hits that resulted in a few runs in each inning throughout the game. We looked to learn from it to head to Game 2 of the double header.

Comments: Game 2 of the double header against Harlan started with Nash Langenfeld reaching first, and going on to be the first run scored of the game in the 1st inning. The Monarchs would leave runners in scoring position in that inning to only take a 1-0 lead after half an inning. From there, Harlan carried the hot bats over to Game 2 in the first inning, which would prove to be too much for the Monarchs to handle as they would go on to win the game 17-2 in 3 innings. Garret Plagge and Cody Schulte both had solid days at the plate as they both hit doubles and provided runs for the Monarchs. Bradyn Schillerberg also provided a nice hit down the first base line where he would reach 3rd base after a couple of throwing errors by the Cyclones. Overall, we had much better plate appearances than what we had in the first double headers of the season to look forward to a packed week of games next week. We will be in action next Monday, June 14th in Griswold as we face the Atlantic Trojans in a double header.
